

https://www.willistonherald.com/news/regional/housing-action-plan-discussed-at-public-meeting/article_29052f94-5e50-11ea-9b39-2b785b50b211.html

FEATURED

Housing Action Plan discussed at public meeting

By Mitch Melberg mmelberg@willistonherald.com
Mar 4, 2020

Dr. Troy Nash with Newmark Grubb Zimmer addresses the audience regarding the Comprehensive Housing Action Plan his company put together for the City of Williston.
Mitch Melberg • Williston Herald

Around 50 people gathered at the Williston ARC on Tuesday to learn about the Comprehensive Housing Action Plan commissioned by the City of Williston.

Dr. Troy Nash and Amy Bretall of Newmark Grubb Zimmer hosted the public meeting, going over the plan their company has been putting together for almost a year. Nash and Bretall were in Williston last March as well, holding meetings with city officials, developers, builders and residents about the city’s housing needs and potential ways to address them. The City Commission officially acknowledged the Action Plan at their Jan. 28 meeting, as well as approving the creation of a Housing Committee, which was recommendation from the study.

Tags

Housing Market

Troy Nash

Economics

Building Industry

Commerce

Finance

Company

Amy Bretall

Cost

Comprehensive Housing Action Plan

Developer

This website uses cookies to ensure you get the best experience on our website.

Learn More

Manage Cookies

Decline

Allow All